

Athena is an offshoot of a decade long experience of BJS, a not-for-profit organization working in the areas of disaster management, educational initiatives, and social development programs since 1985.

An ideal learning environment of schools is an attribute of appropriate arrangement of the quality of education, physical environment and infrastructure and all other factors mentioned above. We, at Athena Advanced Learning Solutions, use our professional understanding, expertise, skills and a strong will to change the scenario of education system in India.

Athena is founded by two prominent personalities in the field of quality education. Mr. Shantilal Muttha, founder of BJS invested last three decades of his time, resources and personal energy in conceptualizing, designing and implementing large-scale solutions for improvement in quality of school education and other community development programs.

This legacy of BJS is further, fortified by Dr. Arun Nigavekar, the father of quality movement in higher education in India as proclaimed by the Former President of India, Honorable Dr. APJ Abdul Kalam. Continuing with his life-long contribution to higher education, Dr. Nigavekar has envisaged Athena to build a quality foundation for higher education through improvements in school education.

At Athena it is believed that quality is a degree of excellence and excellence is always a self-raised bar for further movement. The schools' responsibilities are crucial as the school education needs to address the physical, cognitive, social & moral developmental stages of students.

Jain International Residential School has successfully completed Athena school grading assessment on 3rd & 4th February 2014 with Grade A+. The certificate of assessment was handed over by Mr Shantilal Muttha to Mrs Ambuj Sharma, PRO/Head Mistress of JIRS.
